

Are you responsible for...

- ✓ Orientation and onboarding?
- ✓ Competency management?
- ✓ Education?
- ✓ Role development including nurse residencies/transition to practice programs?
- ✓ Collaborative partnerships such as academic partnerships for student placement?
- ✓ Research/evidence-based practice?
- ✓ Quality improvement?

You Belong.

If you are an RN who leads or supports any of these activities, you are a nursing professional development (NPD) practitioner!

The Association for Nursing Professional Development (ANPD) advances the specialty practice of nursing professional development for the enhancement of healthcare outcomes. Professional development, as a nursing practice specialty, is defined by standards, based on research, and is critical to quality patient and organizational outcomes.

Learn more about ANPD and join now at www.anpd.org.